

Sensory TKD School Residency Program and Field Trip

BRINGING THE BENEFITS OF MARTIAL ARTS TO YOUR CLASSROOM OR FIELD TRIP!

Launched in 2008, Sensory TKD has been the forerunner in therapeutic martial arts and neurological training. Founded and oversight by Dr. Kerry Escamilla, a chiropractor trained in functional neurology and nutrition. Our instructors have performed thousands of special needs martial arts sessions and have extensive and constructive instructional strategies for a wide array of behaviors and learning styles.

Specially trained instructors know how to facilitate martial arts classes in your school setting. They bring all necessary equipment and follow lesson plans to introduce each student classic Taekwon-do training and discipline while incorporating brain pathway activation techniques for centering, calm, awareness and attention. The student will complete a progressive course and on the last class demonstrate their new skills. Upon completion we celebrate and award them with a certificate of accomplishment.

COMMON CORE STANDARDS

The students will be encouraged and supported to demonstrate competency in basic martial arts etiquette, motor skills and curriculum.

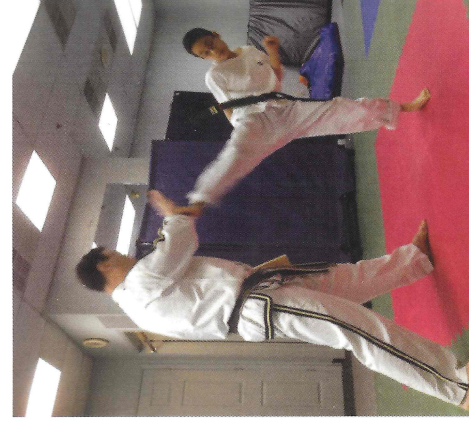

Develop skill-related fitness, such as: Balance, coordination, agility, strength and speed, needed for all sports.

Expose students to values of physical activity for health, enjoyment, challenge, self-expression, confidence and social interaction.

Challenging and innovative activities for students which promote positive, lifelong, healthy attitudes and behaviors.

Strengthen cognitive function; working memory, impulse control, attention, brain hemisphere integration, imitating movements.

Lesson plans are complete with reading, math, and social skill elements.
